Moon day celebration

On July 20, 2022, the Paramekkavu College of Arts and Science, in association with its Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC), celebrated National Moon Day to commemorate the historic Apollo 11 moon landing. The event aimed to educate and engage college students in space science while fostering creativity through a poster-making competition.

The celebration began with an inaugural address by the college principal, highlighting the significance of National Moon Day and its role in inspiring scientific advancements. The event featured various engaging activities throughout the day.

Poster Making Competition: A highlight of the event was the poster-making competition. Students were divided into teams and tasked with creating visually appealing posters that showcased various aspects of the moon, space exploration, and the Apollo 11 mission. The competition encouraged students to combine artistic creativity with scientific knowledge. The poster-making competition showcased the students' creativity and knowledge about space exploration. The top three teams received certificates of achievement and prizes.

Department of Commerce Programme

The Commerce Department of the college in association with IQAC organized a debate in connection with World Student Day 2022. World Students' Day is a special occasion that falls on October 15th every year, dedicated to celebrating the late aerospace scientist, educator, and former President of India, Dr. APJ Abdul Kalam.

The debate was conducted on the topic “Social media has improved human communication” October 14, 2022. Students were divided into two groups according to their interest in the topic. The impact of social media on human communication is a topic of ongoing debate. In recent years, the rise of social media platforms has profoundly influenced the way humans communicate. In the debate one section of students argued that social media has greatly improved human communication. It has undoubtedly brought about positive changes, such as increased connectivity and information sharing, it also presents challenges, including the erosion of in-person interaction and the spread of misinformation. The other section contended that its effects are more nuanced, with both positive and negative implications. Moving forward, it is essential to recognize the dual nature of social media and strive to harness its potential for positive communication while addressing its drawbacks responsibly.

As a mediator, Sivani A V, student of B Com Finance, handled the debate very well. The debate extended for an hour and ended in a healthy way. The program was organized under the leadership of Ms. Kala S., HOD Dept. of Commerce.
